THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

Proceedings of the Regular Meeting of the Common Council Last Evening.

The Salvation Army People Must Obey the Ordinance Relating to Street Parades.

The Ordinance Allowing the Street Cars to be Placed on Runners Adopted.

The Routine and Miscellaneous Business Considered by the Council.

A regular meeting of the common council was held last evening at the council chamber at which Mr. President Fathens presided, all the aldermen being present except Ald. Casey, Judd, C. O. McLean and Smith.

The journal of the last regular meeting was read and approved. Pending the reading of the journal Ald. Casey and Judd came in and took their seats.

The clerk presented a miscellaneous batch of bills against the various funds which were referred to the finance committee.

The October report of the city treasurer was referred to the finance committee. The October report of the board of education, showing expenditures for the month of $2,253.09, was presented, referred to the committee on schools, found correct and placed on file.

The October report of the judge of the municipal court was presented, referred to the judiciary committee, found correct and placed on file.

The clerk read a communication from W. G. Palmer, secretary of the Associated Charities, inviting the members of the common council to be present at the meeting of the association in Cannon's hall this (Tuesday) evening. The document was received and placed on file. The president remarked that he hoped to see all the aldermen present at the meeting.

A petition signed by a large number of property owners of the second ward, protesting against the location of a public drinking fountain at the corner of North Main street and Fourth avenue, and asking that it be located at the junction of Milton and Milwaukee avenues, was presented and referred to the second ward aldermen. Subsequently the petition was reported back by Ald. Thoroughgood, with the recommendation that it be laid on the table. Adopted.

(The clerk read the following communication: (CONSTRUCTION OFFICE, CHAUTAUQUA WATER WORKS, JANESVILLE, WIS., NOV. 15, 1907.) Hon. Chas. Fathens, Chairman Highway, Street and Bridge Committee, City of Janesville, Wis. In accordance with your request I herewith hand you the result of my calculation of the capacity of the 1523 cubic egg-shaped sewer located on Gold street.

The drainage area was carefully re-calculated, and the calculations made long before the sewer was constructed. The formulae used was that known as "Kutter's Formula" and the calculations were checked by using the formulae adopted by the Wisconsin Drainage Commission of 1895. The coefficients employed in both cases were for sewerage and not clean water, consequently the results were considerably on the safe side. The assumption was made that 60 per cent of the rain falling will reach the sewer within the same hour. The sewer has a fall of one in one hundred. The capacity as per above is 4500 gallons per minute, or 162,000 gallons in 36 hours. The assumption of one inch rain fall per hour, I would suggest that if this is not satisfactory that the matter be referred to the city engineer.

Yours Respectfully, FRANK WILLIAMS, Construction Engineer for Turner, Clarke & Rawson.

The same was received and placed on file.

Clerk Denton presented the names of several indigent soldiers, widows of soldiers and orphans, who would be benefited by the law passed last winter by the state legislature, stating that the same had been carefully prepared by a committee of the Grand Army Post, and that it was the duty of the council to make such a report to the present meeting of the board of supervisors. The same was approved and ordered forwarded.

Ald. Carpenter, of the finance committee, reported in favor of allowing sundry bills against the several funds, aggregating as follows:

General fund.....$ 23.34
First Ward fund.....4.75
Second Ward fund.....4.75
Third Ward fund.....4.75
Fourth Ward fund.....4.75
Fifth Ward fund.....4.75
Fire Department fund.....25.00
Total.....$ 57.11

The report was concurred in. On motion of Ald. Carpenter Mr. Geo. Watts was given permission to remove his saloon from the Commercial house to his restaurant on West Milwaukee street.

Ald. Horn, of the highway, street and bridge committee, reported that he had visited the culvert on Gold street for the purpose of examining the work put in by the Water Company; he was not an expert in such matters, and therefore could not say whether the work was properly constructed or not, and was therefore unable to report on the matter.

Ald. J. B. McLean remarked that he had taken Ald. Horn up and showed him the improvement. He said the trouble was not so much from rains as floods in the spring when the snow was melting under warm rains; then the whole country was overflowed and there was water enough to float boats. He had informed Street Commissioner Brown what work was needed and the latter had so informed Mr. Williams. Instead of putting in the sewer pipes across the street, as instructed, he had only put it about half way. Who was to be responsible for the damage the water might do—the city or Mr. Williams? He thought Mr. Williams should put himself on record to stand all damage that might occur.

Mr. Williams, who was present, was given permission to explain, and reiterated the statement made in his communication to Ald. Horn. The company put in the sewer to protect their water pipe. The sewer had a capacity of 4,500 gallons a minute, sufficient to drain fifteen acres at the rate of an inch fall of rain an hour. The company had expended some $700 in making the necessary improvements and had left the street

IN AS GOOD SHAPE AS BEFORE.

He thought the alderman would not object as long as he was improving the property of the ward.

Ald. McLean replied that Mr. Williams was looking out for the interests of Turner, Clarke & Rawson and he was looking after the interests of the property holders of the fifth ward. He moved that Mr. Williams, in behalf of the firm of Turner, Clarke & Rawson, put himself on record to stand all damages that might arise from the sewer being laid to small, and to build the sewer the entire distance across the street. Adopted.

Ald. McLean wanted to know if the River street obstructions had been removed, and if not, why not?

Ald. Carpenter replied that Mr. Eldred had been absent from the city and the marshal was unable to serve the necessary papers.

The clerk remarked that the marshal had served the papers, and the time would expire on Tuesday (to-day.)

Ald. McLean reported that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company officials had been seen, and they were willing to comply with the request of the council regarding crossings.

Ald. Carpenter, instructing the street commissioner, under instruction of the park committee, to improve the city property at the intersection of Madison avenue and Terrace street. Adopted.

Ald. Horn, that the street commissioner construct a concrete crossing at the intersection of River and Dodge streets, on the south side of Dodge street. Adopted.

Ald. Carpenter, that the street commissioner repair Jackson street between Wall and West Bluff streets, under the direction of the aldermen of that ward. Adopted.

Ald. Carpenter, that the street commissioner repair Ravine street, between Academy and Jackson streets, under the direction of the aldermen of that ward. Adopted.

Ald. McLean, that the clerk draw an order in favor of the Sibley Manufacturing Co. for $20.00, to pay for the sliding polest No. 2 engine house. Adopted.

Ald. Rooney, that the clerk draw an order for $100.00, payable from the general fund, in favor of John Brown, balance due him on the Division street grading contract. Adopted.

Ald. Fathens, that the street commissioner clean the gutters on the south side of Monroe street at the west end. Adopted.

Ald. Fathens stated that in order to make the insurance good on the city hospital building in the third ward, he had given Mrs. Stewart permission to reside there. This action was approved by the council.

Ald. McLean stated that owing to the non-enforcement of the ordinance relating to the Salvation Army parading the streets, the council was thereby made the laughing stock of all the people on the street. He had no doubt the army people were imposing on the good nature of the city marshal, whose duty it was to see that the ordinance was enforced. He therefore moved that the marshal be instructed to enforce the ordinance. Adopted.

Ald. Thoroughgood remarked that he had had a talk with Supt. Atwood, of the street car company, relating to placing the street cars on runners during the sleighing seasons, and after hearing his explanation, he was of the opinion that the city ought to pass the ordinance granting permission to make the change. He therefore called for the third reading of the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled an ordinance granting certain rights and privileges to the Janesville Street Railway Company, and numbered one hundred and eleven (111)." Adopted.

The clerk read the ordinance, when Ald. Thoroughgood moved that it be put on its passage. Adopted and the same passed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. F. S. Eldred was given permission to say a few words relating to the River street obstructions. He stated that the roadway had occupied a portion of the street for upwards of forty years. It was a street four rods wide, originally, but doubled now if it was three rods wide. The roadway had been encroached upon on the east side for nearly the entire length of the roadway. All the buildings on that side were in the street. Notwithstanding this fact, he was perfectly willing to remove his coal shed at any time the council desired. He did not wish five days notice or five hours but would do it immediately, if the council so desired. He thought it would be well for the council to appoint a committee to decide where the proposed sidewalk should be built, and when so determined he would remove his shed to comply.

On motion of Ald. J. B. McLean the aldermen of the first ward, with the highway, street and bridge committee, were appointed such committee.

On motion of Ald. Carpenter, the council adjourned.

BEST STAND TRIAL.

Overturning a Demurrer in the Galbraith suit.

A dispatch from Madison, dated yesterday says:—The case of the United States against Galbraith Brothers, of Janesville, for $17,000 import duties on horses brought to this country from Scotland, was called for hearing on the demurrer of the defense to the complaint. Judge Bunn, of the United States court, overruled the demurrer and the case will come up for trial on its merits at the December term of the court.

SAUL OF TARSUS.

Hon. Geo. R. Wendling Speaks to a Janesville Audience on that Subject.

The Apostle Considered One of the Most Able Men of Any Age.

It was a large and cultured audience that listened to the Hon. George R. Wendling's lecture last night. The auditorium of Court Street church was well filled, and the discourse, which had for its subject, "Saul of Tarsus," received marked appreciation.

After sketching the rise of the Jewish people, the birth, the life and the death of Christ, Mr. Wendling said:

"Yes, the Nazarene had been put to death, but His work still went on. Three thousand joined the army of Christianity in one day. So the persecution was made more and more severe. Then out of the very midst of the persecutors came the greatest of the new religion's teachers, Saul, the Hebrew, became Paul, the apostle."

Physically, Mr. Wendling asserted Paul was a man of impressive appearance; not at all the weakling he had been pictured.

He was a married man—conclusive proof of this is given in his writings.

Mr. Wendling pictured Paul's early life and the education he had received to make him what he was, the ablest man of all ages. While at school in Jerusalem the apostle had become one of the strictest of the Pharisees and was the authorities' chosen agent in hunting down Christians and bringing them before the council.

He hears the martyred Stephen's scathing denunciations and the words echo through his mind unceasingly. He thinks to smother them by renewed persecutions and stunts at once for Damascus. All of his other accomplishments shall now be surpassed. But on his way across those burning sands he is overtaken by that mysterious transformation known as Paul's conversion. In a moment his whole nature is changed.

He returns to Damascus, not to persecute but to boldly preach that the poor Nazarene's doctrine is true. He is forced to flee to avoid assassination but he pursues his way unflinchingly. He is scourged by the Romans and by the Greeks. He endures two ship wrecks. He braves the greatest dangers, is even stoned by the people of Lystra and dragged outside of the city for dead. Does he give up the battle? Not yet, not yet! His work is kept up without halting although in those twenty memorable years his sufferings are more than mortal men has ever before been made to endure.

Some have said that the apostle was too impulsive a man to be a philosopher. "Why," exclaimed the speaker, "Plato and Socrates themselves, beside him were weak. With his intensity of thought there often seemed to be over his writings a veritable play of lightning. His logic was remorseless."

"But what shall I say to you, my hearers, upon St. Paul as an orator? Too many of our orators to-day are inclined in their studies to pass St. Paul by as too religious to be artistic. The man who so long and so well represented this commonwealth in the United States senate, Matt. Carpenter, [applause] knew better than this. A closer student of St. Paul and his writings never lived."

The Greek philosophers could win and soothe, the Roman orators could overpower and convince. Webster and Burke could rivet the popular attention upon the most weighty philosophy, but Paul could do all these. He talked in a time when art and eloquence had reached a stage never since attained, and, believe me, the world has never seen such an orator, such a teacher or such a leader since."

"If a woman will, she will. If she will take Dr. Bull's Genui Syrup for her cold, she will be cured."

"Take good advice—I have suffered with bad headaches for years, and have tried many remedies without obtaining relief. I was advised to give Bull's Genui a trial and it has entirely cured me."
